Ron Cain of TMSi Logistics to Present LEGACY, a Values-Driven Corporate Program, at Knoxville Chamber Event

(Knoxville, TN) – Ron Cain, Chairman and CEO of TMSi Logistics, will be discussing LEGACY, a values-driven corporate program, at the Knoxville Chamber's Market House Ballroom, 17 Market Square, Suite 201 in Knoxville, TN on Tuesday, May 5, 2009 from 7:30-9AM. To register, call 865-246-2622 or visit <http://www.knoxvillechamber.com/events/1201/>.

Mr. Cain's presentation will detail the benefits of creating a shared set of values within an organization to increase employee productivity and reduce costs for companies and their clients. The concept of cultural resilience, including the steps companies can take to become more resilient and prosper through these uncertain economic times, will be primary topics of the presentation.

Mr. Cain will also give a detailed discussion on LEGACY, TMSi's unique values-driven program proven to sustainable cost reduction, and improve service levels businesses. The presentation will cover how LEGACY has changed the culture within TMSi Logistics, and how these cultural changes can be successfully implemented by other companies. Future plans for their values-driven culture and suggestions on how other companies can get started will also be included in the presentation.

Ron states: "I am pleased to have the opportunity to present TMSi's proven values-driven LEGACY program at the Knoxville Chamber Event. Through LEGACY, our team at TMSi hopes to inspire others to achieve resiliency through trying economic times, encourage community responsibility through employee engagement and leadership development, and increase efficiency while lowering costs."
