Ron Cain of TMSi Logistics Presents on How Values-Driven Leadership Builds High Performance Corporations

(Portsmouth, NH) – Ron Cain, Chairman and CEO of TMSi Logistics, will be giving an interactive presentation on how values-driven leadership builds high performance corporations at the Hilton Garden Inn, 100 High Street, in Portsmouth NH, on Thursday, July 30, 2009 from 8:30-10:30AM. Breakfast is complimentary, to register call 603-415-4444 or email smahoney@tmsilog.com.

Mr. Cain's presentation will detail the benefits of creating a shared set of values within an organization to increase employee productivity and reduce costs for companies and their clients. The concept of cultural resilience, including the steps companies can take to become more resilient and prosper through these uncertain economic times, will be primary topics of the presentation.

Mr. Cain will also give a detailed discussion on LEGACY, TMSi's unique values-driven program proven to achieve sustainable cost savings and increased service levels for businesses. The presentation will cover how LEGACY has changed the culture within TMSi Logistics, and how these cultural changes can be successfully implemented by other companies. Future plans for their values-driven culture and suggestions on how other companies can get started will also be included in the presentation.

Ron states: "I am pleased to have the opportunity to share TMSi's experiences in helping companies build high performance corporations through values driven leadership. Through LEGACY, our corporate values system, TMSi hopes to inspire others to achieve resiliency through trying economic times, encourage community responsibility through employee engagement and leadership development, and increase efficiency while lowering costs."
